

Rubber mallet

It is used on items where you do not want to leave marks

Woodworking Chisel

Scratch Awl-

It is used for making lines and points in wood with its sharp tip.

Claw Hammer

The hammer is usually used to drive in nails, but can also flatten or drive in other things.

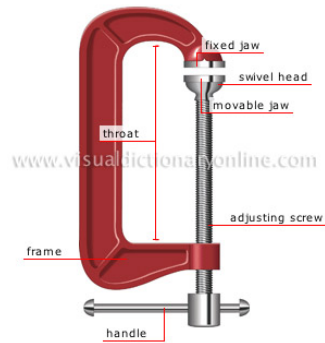

Screw driver
Drives in screws

C Clamp

Used for clamping stuff.

Spring clamp

Also used for clamping stuff together.

Wood Clamp

Old time clamp, used when you need to apply pressure to a large or flat surface.

Wood Scraper-

Used for taking unwanted stuff off the surface of wood.

Wood Rasp

This is used to file down wood.

Nail Set

Used to set a nail farther into a piece of wood

Bench cookie.

Used for stability when working on a project, it creates friction on what you're working on so it doesn't slip.

Extension Cord

Extension cords are a length of electric cord that permits the use of an appliance at some distance from a fixed socket.

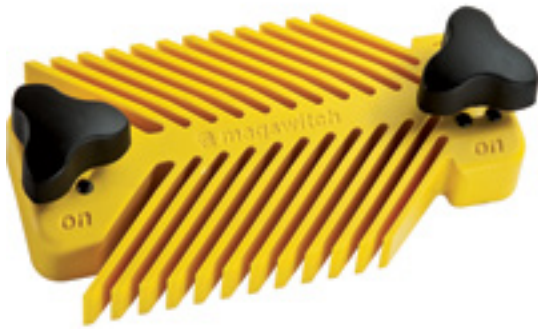

Utility knife

Use: Opening Boxes. Anything that requires exact, small cut

Universal Featherboard.

The featherboard is used to keep apply pressure on a board up against a fence when using a saw. It keeps your fingers safe away from a saw blade.

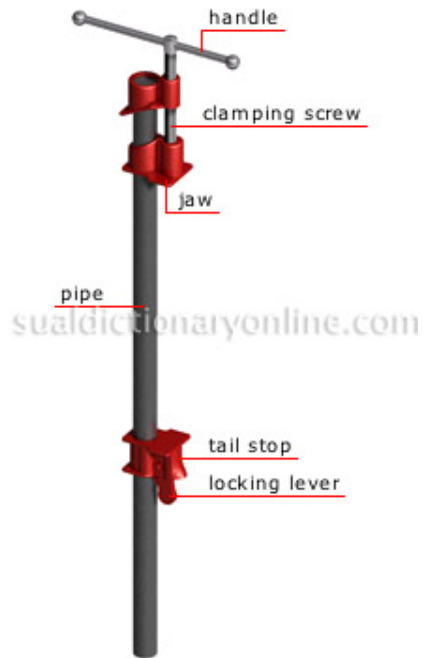

The tape measure is used for finding the exact dimension of an object.

The flat head screw driver is used for screwing nails into objects with the same indent to fit the head of the screw driver.

Pipe Clamp- It is used to clamp down something together and hold it.

8 in 1 Painter's Tool

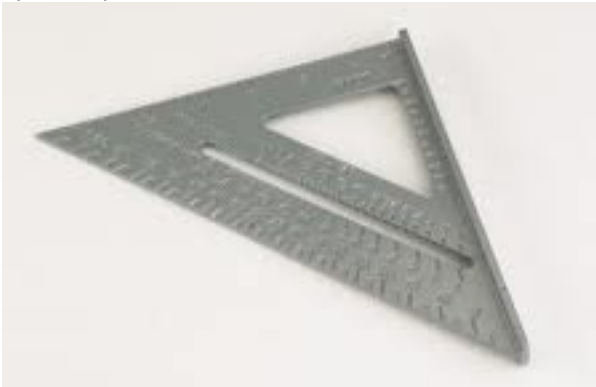

Use: Pulls nails
Removes putty
Scraper
Opens cracks for patching
Open paint cans

combination square

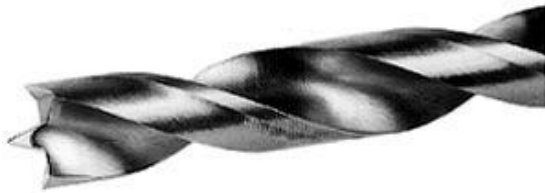

Speed square

brad point drill bit

Use to not move when drilling. (when you want a straight hole in an exact place)

Forstner bit.

Used when you want the sides of the hole to be cleanly cut.

This is a spade bit,

it is used for drilling rough holes in wood. (makes quick holes, though not always pretty)

Orbital Sander

An orbital sander is for making wood smooth.

